

Unit of Credit

The unit of credit is the semester hour.

The university will grant one semester hour of credit for the successful completion of a minimum of three hours of student academic work each week. Academic work includes, but is not limited to, direct faculty instruction, e-learning, laboratory work, studio work, field work, performance, internships, and practica.