Franklin Pierce University

TEACH IN

Franklin Pierce University

October 8

HATE under our SKIN

love hate
10:00 AM
10A. “Bitches, Whores, Dykes, and Your Mother” - Pierce Hall
Women in Leadership
This is a workshop for you if:
1. You have/had a mother or mother figure
2. Have been called a bitch/whore/dyke
3. Have called another a bitch, whore, dyke
4. Want a hands-on, interactive, outrageous 50 minutes!

10B. “Hate Does Not Have a Home Here” - Alumni Lounge
Residential Life Experience Directors
Remember that childhood rhyme, “sticks and stones may break my bones, but words can never hurt me?” As much as we wish that we were immune from the power of words, language is the most powerful tool used to spread hate. Come and learn how to end the cycle of hateful and hurtful language.

11:00 AM
11A. “Bitches, Whores, Dykes, and Your Mother” - Pierce Hall
Women in Leadership
(See description of workshop 10A)

11B. “Jaegerbombs, Skanks and the Girl Next Door” - Cheshire Hall
Students from Joni Doherty - Intro to Women Studies class
Stereotypes affect all men and women of every race, gender and ethnicity. Moving past stereotypes requires a conscious choice to treat people as individuals rather than as members of a group. The goal of this workshop is to recognize and discourage stereotypes rather than feed into them. In a society where stereotypes are everywhere, this takes vigilance to identify and energy to address—which is exactly what we’re aiming to do.

12:00 PM - Lunch

12:30-2:00 PM
12:30-2:00 PM
12A. “In the Light of Reverence” - Pierce Hall
A stunning portrait of land-use conflicts over Native American sacred sites on public and private land around the west.

2:00 PM
2A. “Impact of Stereotypes in Media” - Pierce Hall
Ukumbwa Sauti and Phyllis Zrzavy
A review of past and current stereotypes in television, cinema, and print followed by a frank and open discussion of real-time challenges we continue to face in 2008 and beyond.

2B. “Are you retarded?” - Cheshire Hall
Charlotte Farber and Jessica Summer
Dispelling myths and gain experience about learning disabilities on college campuses.

3:00 PM
3A. “Impact of Stereotypes in Media” - Pierce Hall
Ukumbwa Sauti and Phyllis Zrzavy
(See description of workshop 2A)

3B. “The Politics of isms” - Alumni Lounge
Manjunath Burdekar, Jessica Summer, and Eric Schoner
Look at isms that we face in everyday life and in our society. Come share your stories and discuss how it all began.

4:00 PM
4:00 PM
Playback Theater - Pierce Hall
Ukumbwa Sauti
An interactive dramatization of issues derived from previous workshops or other related topics.

7:00 PM
“Student Activism in the 1960s and Student Activism Today”
Jesse Epps
Join Jesse Epps, civil rights activist and us for a lecture by civil rights activist Jesse Epps as he discusses and compares and contrasts student activism today and in the 1960s.